

Workday Launch

Deployment designed for the medium enterprise

Go live with Workday on time, on budget, and with lower risk.

Workday Launch is preconfigured and built on our extensive learnings from our medium enterprise deployments, so you can go live quickly and predictably. And with a customer satisfaction rating of over 95 per cent, you can rest easy knowing we'll deliver as promised now and into the future.

Workday Launch highlights:

- Preconfigured – Using common artefacts from past medium enterprise deployments, this standard, preconfigured package is the most effective, lowest-risk way to get you live in four to six months.
- Fixed fee – With a fixed, low-cost approach, there's no need to worry about scope creep and exceeding your budget.
- Continuous value – A wide range of training and enablement tools help ensure that your organisation will be able to adopt and use Workday with confidence and realise continuous return on investment.

Approach overview

To start, Workday or your trusted partner guides you through a discovery process to understand your needs and content. Our deployment methodology guarantees a consistent approach and easy communication within the ecosystem.

You will be presented with a preconfigured tenant based on what we learned from the discovery process and medium enterprise best practices. This removes potentially costly guesswork that comes with starting from scratch and accelerates planning.

Since we preload your data into the tenant, you'll be able to see your data in action and make critical decisions with confidence from the start. You can then expand and refine the preconfigured prototype to ensure a perfect match.
